

Do you want to just pay for what you need and not for bells and whistles that you don't want?

There are certain things that our experience with hundreds of start-ups tells us you really need. Things like reliability, a serious professional y made appearance to your site, security and efficient no-nonsense service. There are dozens of frills that web designers will try to sell you. Like flash, forums, guest books, animations - things that you don't need - waste your money - and your time. We don't pressure you to have what you don't need - if you ask for it we can add it after you site is running. We can add almost anything to our PowerWeb Lite sites that we offer at start-up-websites. If you don't want it we won't try to hard sell it.

We think it doesn't make sense to spend your money telling other people what to put on your site when we could train you to put things on your site yourself. If you can use a word processor or web browser then you can learn what you need to add your words and pictures to a powerweb site just by watching our special DVD which we provide to every Start-up-websites customer.
